This Way Out

Add the war profiteer to your list of vanishing Americans. Like the little dogie in the song a few years ago, he's heading for his last roundure. In spite of a few sensational stories about excessive profits from war contracts, the fact remains that the great majority of companies here in America are working overtime for victory without getting exobiant returns. Some of them have been able to cut the cost of their contracts below the original figure and have turned back part of their profits voluntarily to the government.

to the government.

For the great majority of companies, however, the

to the government.

For the great majority of companies, however, the profit margin is much narrower than most people realize. In the decade from 1931 to 1940 the average annual profit on gross income in the manufacturing in the decade from 1921 to 1930. While war production greatly stimulated industrial activity and increased earnings of manufacturing companies, almost all the gains were drained off in taxes. Although earnings before taxes may rise this year and next, corporation taxes will also rise. Data available on 1940 and 1941 incomes indicate that the peak of profits for the war production period was reached in 1941, and profits are now decliming.

Facts like these indicate that industry is not holding up production to get big money. It's determined to do its war job fairly and honestly. It wants legislation that will eliminate unfair profits. As the National Association of Manufacturers, which represents 80 per cent of the nation's war industries, said recently!, "we have not and will not lend our stamp of approval to any tax legislation which does not effectivelyl eradicate the war profiterer. However, we firmly believe that it would be a grave error to attempt to correct this situation by an arbitary, rigid profits ceiling of 6 per cent (or any other percentage formula), when the more effective method of controlling profits is through normal excess-profits legislation.

Higher and Higher

Higher and Higher

The miracle men are still at work on America's factory front, and industry is on the job.
Our country needs planes and tanks and ships—needs a lot and needs them quickly. So our industries roll up their sleeves and go to work. They cut production corners, work hard, long hours, and deliver the goods. It takes time for them to do it, of course, but it takes less time than most people dreamed it would a year or two ago.
Pearl Harbor blew the lid off American war production. Since that Sunday production has soared to new hights, and more is yet to come. In the last four months one company has doubled its output of one type of heavy bomber badly needed by the United Nations. The automobile industry alone has delivered $5580,000,000 worth of guns, tanks, planes, and other combat instruments to the Army and Navy since the first of the year. Two companies making airplane engines report that they are far ahead of schedule on their contracts. Soon the biggest bomber plant in the world will be finished a month ahead of schedule and will start turning out vast numbers of huge planes to carry the war home to the Axis. A shipbuilding company has completed plans to use a secret method of assembly line production which should make it possible to send a merchant ship down the ways in about 1-30 of the time now required.

Examples like that, spectacular as they are, by no means tell the whole story. There are plenty more that never break into print because of censorship. Whether we see them or not doesn't change the fact that production is going up fast. Perhaps we haven't caught upu with the Axis yet, but we're certainly well on our way.

District 1, up until the past year, however, was comprised of the northern section of the coastal area of the county, and only a part of the Everglades-a condition which naturally worked to the disadvantage of those schools of the Glades under the jurisdiction and supervision of coastal members of the Board in the matter of allocation of funds for maintenance and improvements

During the past year, with the re-districting, and the placing of all Everglades schools within this district, the cation of funds has been more equitably distributed, with the result that all schools of the Everglades are now in better material condition than at any time in their history and we are exceptionally proud to have been one of the instigators of the change, and worked hard in bringing it about.

Is Your Fluorescent Lighting On The Blink?

PERTINENT POINTERS For Cooking Appliances

Many trouble calls and repair bills will be avoided if you make sure that:

Fuses and fuse clips are tight, as loose fuse contact or loose fuse clips cause heat-ing of the fuses and early failure.

 Unnecessary strains on cords and lead rires are avoided. Plugs are always firmly and fully in-erted in their receptables.

serted in their receptables.

4. Switches are wiped free of grease and are properly lubricated.

5. Rough handling and twisting of thermostats is avoided.

Grease is the Number One bug-a-boo of all kitchens; of all electric cooking appliances. Like a falserman's story, it gets worse and worse with time. Constant daily wiping of all parts of each electrical appliance, including the cords and plugs, is an-A-1 necessity.

Watch this column each week for point on efficient operations and maintenance your appliances.
